Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Thank you for your very kind letter of 4/14/75. I knew about the meeting at NYU because I have been making an effort to learn about these events. But I was very disappointed and somewhat anxious to learn that you were ill. So much so, that I didn't go to speak to Mr. Lesar (which I should have). I spent two days at the meetings and Sunday I stayed home and read Whitewash IV that night. Very well done, bless you!

My emotions are so strong over all this, that it is an effort to stick to the subject of what I want to say. First off, I hope that you have made a complete recovery from your illness. I am enclosing an envelope in case of your reply, to try to save you from strain.

Secondly, if the phone company billed you for my call to you (they didn't bill me), I shall reimburse you for the charge.

Lastly, I am reminded that your efforts are restricted to what is in the Commission investigation. The Report states that a year of Dallas newspapers was examined, for threats. Why a year? Why not a year and a day? Why not for the entire period of time Oswald was in the Dallas area? Or before, if Hoover knew someone had used Oswald's identity while he was in Russia?

I mentioned to you, but it is not in my letters, that my husband and I phoned the Dallas FBI office after the assassination twice. I have one notation of a call on December 3, 1963. We gave our names, but did not get the names of the persons we spoke with.

Enclosed is a copy of a NY Times article describing the sort of media arrangement I described to you, that resulted in my being incarcerated in Parkland Hospital and tortured, in 1965. But, it is also as you said...if you had a signed confession from the guilty ones, it would probably not be believed.

Also enclosed are two photos of sketches I made in Parkland of some fellow "patients", who I believe were not patients. I doubt I could get so lucky that they are somehow involved in the JFK story, but on the off-chance that you recognize them...one is signed David Smith. The girl's head below his picture is the former classmate of mine at North Texas State, who giggled something at one time about not using their real names. The other man is signed John B. Merlock and he resembles a former friend of mine, whose situation was the self-justification the psychiatrists used to lynch me.

Another thought occurs: if the letters-to-the-eds were set up to frame Oswald, then his move as stated in the letters had evaporated by the time JFK got to Dallas. I'm sure Kennedy made two public statements about another look at Castro Cuba, just before his arrival in Dallas. Another reason for their suppression.

Sorry if my writing taxes you. I do hope with all my heart that you are well now.

Best wishes,

Lorraine Brake
